A very pleasant social occurred at the home of Mrs. Donald Smith yesterday afternoon, when the members of the Over-the-Teacups club gave their first red-letter day. Each member brought an invited guest, making a company of about 40. It was in charge of Mrs. McDonald and Mrs. McFarland, with Mrs. Henry Smith as committee of introduction. After a pleasing program, consisting of a piano solo by Miss Benedict, a reading by Miss Farnham, piano duet by the Misses Russell, and a vocal solo by Miss Phillips, the guests were ushered into the dining room, where Mrs. Arline Eastman poured and Mrs. Clara Paves served. The table was prettily decorated with carnations and narcissus. Each member and guest left agreeing that it had indeed been a red-letter day.

While the present trend of the drama would apparently indicate that plays dealing with the seamy side of life are the ones most demanded of the dramatic author at present, it is a notable and pleasing fact that one of the real successes of the present season is a dramatization of "St. Elmo," Augusta J. Evans' wonderful delineation of southern life and character. "St. Elmo" is a play different from the current type of theatrical productions, dealing, as it does, with the almost ideal conditions of country life in the southern states; and yet Neil Twomey has scored one of the successes of the present season, is a dramatization of a novel that is an American, rather than a southern, classic. Interpreted by a cast of players of metropolitan reputation, Mr. Twomey's play will be seen at the opera house Saturday afternoon and evening.
